

Rochester Works!

Are you a job seeker looking for help with your job search? Are you preparing for a change in jobs?

RochesterWorks! is bringing its workshops to the community through partnerships with area libraries and organizations. This will increase our ability to help even more job seekers.

In this challenging economic climate, we believe it is important to provide access to job search information to as many people as possible. That is why we are so glad to partner with the libraries below. If you are a resident of one of these communities or want more information on the workshops being provided, select the link below.
